Announcing the 2018 IVAN ENC-conference Users Meeting in Orlando on Saturday April 28th at the Hyatt Regency Grand Cypress Hotel

MR Resources and the IVAN executive committee are pleased to announce our 2018 user meeting at the ENC Conference in Orlando, Florida. As with last year, we plan an all-day meeting on the Saturday before ENC, April 28th. This year the meeting will be located in the conference hotel, the Hyatt Grand Cypress. We start around 9:00 AM. There is a catered lunch at noon and we will finish with a reception in the late afternoon, about 4:00 PM to 6:00 PM, all sponsored by MR Resources.

Please make your ENC plans to include the Saturday IVAN meeting! All in the Varian/Agilent NMR community are welcome! Also, our location in the conference hotel should make it easy to come and go from the other user meetings that day.

You are invited to contact us now with your ideas for the agenda. We are already beginning to plan. The Asilomar user meeting last year was well received and we will continue with the same mixture of practical discussions and invited talks. The focus is always on the support for new NMR experiments, using Varian and Agilent NMR spectrometers, in all areas of Liquids, Solids and Imaging. If you have suggestions for subjects or if you would like to speak, contact one of us in the executive-committee list below.

Registration will be open soon at our web site <http://www.ivanmr.com>. We ask you to preregister, even if you only plan to drop in for a few talks, though onsite registration will also be available.

If you are already an IVAN member, login at the IVAN web site as you did last year and fill out the registration form. If you do not yet have an IVAN login, first click the link to join IVAN and then continue on to register for the meeting. The registration form will also be accessible through the ENC website.

Make your plans for another great IVAN event! We will have more information in January, both by email and at the IVAN web site.

See you at the ENC!
